Scientists See U.S. Chief

Hurling New Threat at Reds

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—President Kennedy has picked up the Soviet challenge to race for the moon.

But, some U.S. space scientists said today, he's also thrown back a challenge: Match American efforts to explore space for peaceful boons and scientific knowledge—or at least share such results as openly.

Their comments came as several hundred scientists, industrialists and educators began the first National Conference on Peaceful Uses of Space.

The two-day conference is devoted to benefits promised by satellites for new worldwide communications by telephone, cables and television; weather satellites for long-range accurate forecasts or even ultimate control of weather; and probes to discover fundamental knowledge about space, earth, sun, stars and even the origin and fate of the universe.

Several scientists, speaking privately, said they thought President Kennedy's call for vastly expanded space efforts—including the multi-million dollar race to place men on the moon—was bound to increase the harvest of practical and scientific knowledge to be learned from space.

In the last three years, U.S. scientists published 185 space research reports in the Journal of Geophysical Research, one scientist commented. In that same period, he said he had seen only 30 reports from Soviet scientists, but he admitted not all the Soviet reports might have been translated or otherwise made available.

Putting men on the moon will be terribly expensive—some estimates run up to $40 billion. Is it worth it to put man in space?

"I don't think we can afford not to try," said another scientist. "No more than nations could not afford to change from sailing ships to steamboats when steamboats came along. Or to airplanes or to jet airplanes. We simply can't afford to neglect new ideas and challenges, even though we don't know where they will lead."

Gas Well Drilled To 8,031 Feet

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—The El Paso Natural Gas Co. has drilled 8,031 feet deep in Smith Twp. for what is reported to be the deepest gas well ever drilled in Ohio.

Company officials said no information will be given out immediately on their strike. Theodore A. De Brosse, geologist in the Ohio Division of Geological Survey, said El Paso found signs of gas at three levels. The company is running tests to determine actual strength of the well and at what levels perforation should be made in the 8,000 feet of 5½-inch pipe sunk in the hole.

Education Bill Is Sent On for OK in House

Kennedy Proposition Passes Senate by Margin of 49-34

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's $2.55 billion public school aid bill, having vaulted the Senate handily, heads today into an expected bitter showdown in the House.

The Senate passed the measure Thursday night 49 to 34, climaxing eight days of debate. It is one of the "big five" bills in Kennedy's 1961 legislative program.

Its supporters said today they expect the school bill will clear the House by a slim margin, although it may be trimmed before it passes.

All in all, federal aid to education advocates believe this is the best chance they have ever had to get such legislation enacted.

The bill's Senate sponsors were a little disappointed in the final vote. It was lower than they had expected because of many absentees.

The tally would have been 59-41 if all 100 senators had been present to vote their announced positions. As it was 41 Democrats and 1 Republican voted for it, 22 Republicans and 12 Democrats against it.

Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, lined up with most Republicans while Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, sided with most Democrats as the Senate passed the bill.

Under the bill, Ohio would get an annual grant of $39,445,240, or $16.13 for each school age (5-17) child.

A similar bill has been approved by the House Education and Labor Committee. It may reach the floor in the week of June 4.

Even if the bill gets through the House, its sponsors concede that the funds for teacher salaries provision may be knocked out.

If this should happen, the basis for a possible compromise was laid in Senate debate. The bill, as it reached the Senate floor, made the grants available for teacher salaries or school construction.

A floor amendment, accepted by the administration, broadened this to include spending for such operating expenses as school buses, textbooks and libraries.

The bill passed by the Senate authorized $850 million a year in grants for the next three years to try to help states equalize educational opportunities.

It also extends for three more years the impacted area program of aid to school districts with enrollments swollen because of nearby federal installations. Payments under this program next year are estimated at $10 million. The grants in the general school aid bill would be paid on a sliding scale, the poorest state getting three times as much as the richest.

Texas would get the largest amount of annual aid, $57,967,084. Nevada the smallest, $1,038,379. The largest per pupil allotment would be $27.74 for Arkansas, Mississippi and South Carolina, the smallest $9.25 for Connecticut.

FHA Insurance Ceiling Approved by President

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has signed into law an emergency resolution raising the mortgage insurance authority of the Federal Housing Administration by $1 billion.

The agency, which insures thousands of home-loan mortgages annually, is bumping against the present $37,784,000,000 ceiling on its authority.

Freedom Riders Due To Go on Trial For Flaunting 'Jim Crow' in Dixie

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Segregation-defying "Freedom Riders" were scheduled to go on trial in Jackson City Court today as integrationists continued their massive assault on "Jim Crow" barriers throughout the Deep South.

Trial of the 27 Freedom Riders—25 Negroes and two whites—is set for 5 p.m. in the same courtroom where earlier this year other Negroes were convicted for attempts to integrate Jackson's main public library and city bus system.

At the trial of the library integrationists, club-swinging policemen using trained dogs dispatched a large crowd of hymn-singing Negroes outside the court building.

The 27 Freedom Riders were arrested Wednesday after their arrival on two separate buses from Montgomery.

They were charged under the same breach of peace statute used in the previous integration attempts here. They also face an additional charge of disobeying an officer. If convicted of both charges, they face a maximum six-month jail term and $500 fines.

In New Orleans—the announced destination of all previous "Freedom Rides"—the City Council adopted a resolution urging police to escort the integrationists and other "agitators" nonstop through the city. Dis. Atty. Richard Dowling said he would charge any such traveling groups with violation of a state law similar to the Mississippi anti-integration breach of peace law.

Thursday, Dowling accepted charges under that law against George Lincoln Rockwell and nine of his anti-integration right-wing American Nazi party followers. They were jailed for picketing the movie "Exodus" and a National Association for the Advancement of Colored People rally.

In yet another development, the Florida NAACP president ordered a segregation test of all rail and bus lines and terminals in Florida. The Rev. Leon Lowrey of Tampa instructed all NAACP chapters to seek service in terminal restaurants, take front seats on trains and buses and use white only restroom facilities.

In Washington, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy ordered withdrawal by Negro integration leader Martin Luther King Jr. in a telegram from Atlanta. The Rev. Mr. King urged that the federal marshals remain in Montgomery "at this crucial moment." He also warned that "a potential reign of terror still exists" in the Alabama capital.

Mississippi Gov. Ross Barnett promised speedy arrest of any additional Freedom Riders who violate state segregation laws.

"There is too much work to be done in Mississippi for us to have to put up with outside agitators trying to stir up our people to no good cause whatsoever," said Barnett.

James Farmer, national director of the Congress of Racial Equality—one of the sponsors of the Freedom Riders, urged continued defiance of segregation laws. Farmer was one of the 27 arrested in Jackson.

In New York, CORE announced it was dispatching field secretaries to New Orleans, Jackson and Montgomery. A spokesman said the CORE executives would assist in preparing additional attempts to crack segregation barriers.

Riders Step Up Dixie Assault

Negro Leader Wounded By 'Bama Gunfire

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—With some of their leaders in jail and another ambushed by rifle fire, "Freedom Riders" stepped up their assault on segregation today both in and out of court.

A spokesman predicted a massive demonstration against bus station racial barriers in waiting rooms and restrooms when Negro college students start for home in the next few days.

Segregation-challenging bus riders waited for a hearing on a federal court suit filed here on Thursday to block enforcement of racial barriers in interstate terminals.

The suit seeks an injunction to prohibit Montgomery police from arresting Negroes for violating segregation laws or for violation of a state court order against continued "Freedom rides."

Eleven integrationists remained in jail overnight on charges resulting from their arrest during a bus station challenge Thursday.

Their attorney said four white college professors and a Negro student probably would seek release today under bond of $1,000 each, but the others may stay behind bars until a court hearing set for June 16.

The Negro leaders held in jail included the Rev. Ralph D. Abernathy, president of the Montgomery Improvement Association; the Rev. F. S. Shuttlesworth, head of the Alabama Christian Movement for Human Rights in Birmingham; and the Rev. Wyatt Tee Walker of Atlanta, executive secretary of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

They were among the six who chose to remain in custody rather than seek immediate release on bond.

Another Negro minister, the Rev. Solomon S. Seay Sr., 62, still has a bullet in his wrist. He said it was fired by a group of white youths who raced past his home at high speed.

The executive secretary of the pro-integration Montgomery Improvement Association said only the fact that he was picking his teeth kept the shot from striking him in the face.

Adjutant General Henry V. Graham, in command of National Guard troops enforcing martial rule in the troubled city where bloody race riots exploded last weekend, ordered an intensive investigation.

GOP Leaders Heap Scorn On Kennedy in Cuban 'Swap'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republican congressional leaders today called President Kennedy's support of the tractors-for-prisoners exchange "another blow to our fast-diminishing world leadership."

"The disastrous handling of the Cuban invasion has caused America to suffer an enormous loss in prestige abroad," the GOP leaders said in a statement.

"But now President Kennedy has compounded that loss by disclosing his official sponsorship of a so-called citizens movement for the American people to make blackmail payments to Fidel Castro."

The statement, approved by a conference of Republican Senate and House leaders, was read to newsmen by Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, Senate GOP leader.

While a number of Republicans, notably Sen. Homer E. Capehart of Indiana, have kept up a constant attack on Kennedy's support for raising funds to buy 500 tractors to ransom upwards of 1,200 Castro-held invasion prisoners, today's action was the first official party attack on it.

Resolutions were introduced in both the House and Senate Thursday aimed at putting Congress on record against ransom for more than 1,200 rebels captured in the U.S.-supported invasion.

In Detroit, the Tractors-for-Freedom Fund said it had received 200 to 250 letters this week at its United Auto Workers Union headquarters.

Brendan Sexton, UAW fund coordinator, said the letters included "a number of inquiries from fairly significant people and organizations in other cities to conduct fund-raising drives there."

The fund was organized by Eleanor Roosevelt, UAW President Walter P. Reuther and Dr. Milton Eisenhower, president of Johns Hopkins University and brother of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

In Miami, Fla., the 10 Cuban prisoners sent here to negotiate the deal were preparing to return to Cuba on Saturday. They had been given a 10-day parole by Cuba's Prime Minister Fidel Castro to make the arrangements.

More opposition to the tractor exchange came Thursday from Gen. Eisenhower's former news secretary, James C. Hagerty.

In New Haven, Conn., Hagerty said, "I think we are setting by this a very dangerous precedent. I think we are going back to the Dark Ages when people were held for ransom, which this is."

"And I'm afraid it might be open season on free people around the world," if the program continues, Hagerty said.

Capehart introduced two resolutions against the tractor exchange in the Senate Thursday and Rep. William Jennings Bryan Dorn, D-S.C., offered one in the House.

If passed, none of the resolutions would be binding on the Kennedy administration.

President Kennedy, who helped organize the fund drive, has said he feels contributions, should be deductible from income taxes.

New Congress District Eyed

State Assembly Set To Debate Measure

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Because of the Memorial Day holiday, the Ohio legislature will hold a hobbled session next week featuring by a Republican attempt in the House to create a 24th congressional district.

But it wouldn't be a good risk to wager any money that a 24th district will come into being as a result of this legislative session.

House approval next Thursday is probable on a bill to create a new 24th district by combining Butler County from the present 3rd District with Warren County from the 7th and Clermont County from the 6th.

But, by the time the bill reaches the Senate, the roof probably will fall in.

Congressmen are a little cozy about their districts and are somewhat less than enthusiastic about the legislature's attempts, on occasion, to upset their applecarts.

Congressmen are prone to say in effect: "I was elected in my district as presently constituted. What are you trying to do to me by changing the makeup of my district?"

But, by federal law, there is a census every 10 years and on that

Negro President Of U.S. Predicted In 30 to 40 Years

WASHINGTON (AP)—Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said in a broadcast beamed overseas today that racial prejudices are being broken down in this country and a Negro could be president within the next 30 to 40 years.

Speaking extemporaneously, the 35-year-old attorney general told his vast audience that prejudice exists in all areas of the world and probably will continue to exist.

"But we are trying to make progress," he said. "We do not accept the status quo."

Kennedy recalled that his grandfather arrived in Boston only 50 years ago as an Irish immigrant at a time when "the Irish were not wanted here."

Referring to his brother, President John F. Kennedy, the attorney general said: "Now an Irish Catholic is president of the United States. There is no question that in the next 30 to 40 years a Negro can be president, also."

$4.75 Billion Fund Sought By President

Long-Range Program Is Proposed as of Paramount Importance

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy asked Congress today for a drastic overhaul of the foreign aid program, a $4.75 billion aid effort for next year and a multi-billion loan system for future years.

Kennedy said the proposed long-range program is of "paramount importance" for protection of the free world against the Communist threat.

The President made his proposal in a letter to Congress transmitting the legislation he wants enacted.

A number of influential legislators have shown coolness to parts of the Kennedy package, however, and what type of bill Congress will finally approve remains uncertain.

In what would be the most drastic shakeup since the aid program got under way on a large scale after World War II, Kennedy proposed establishment of a single aid organization combining previously separate units.

The new master aid agency would be called A.I.D. (The Agency for International Development). Its head would have under-secretary of state rank and would report to the secretary of state and the President.

Under Kennedy's bill arms aid would be separated from economic aid in the future, and would be treated as part of the regular U.S. defense budget.

Kennedy set out these figures for the program in the fiscal year starting July 1:

$1.69 billion for economic aid to countries around the world. The sum includes $500 million for a presidential contingency fund for flexible use in emergencies such as recent developments in Southeast Asia, twice the amount Kennedy estimated for that purpose earlier.

$1,885,000,000 for arms assistance. This is the amount Kennedy mentioned in Thursday's message which outlined much of the program presented today.

$900 million in borrowing authority for funds to make long-term loans for overseas economic development projects.

$300 million additional, to come from repayments by foreign countries on previous loan aid programs and to be reused for new projects. Kennedy also asked for authority to use such funds for the same purpose in future years, estimating them at about $300 million annually.

For the four years starting July 1, 1962 Kennedy requested $1.6 billion a year in further borrowing authority for long-term economic development loans.

This plus the $900 million for the coming year would bring the requested borrowing authority to $7.3 billion over the next five years.

In asking for this core of his new long-range program, Kennedy said:

"Real progress in economic development cannot be achieved by annual, short-term dispensations of aid and uncertainty as to future intentions. These (long-term) methods are essential to our new approach to development assistance to the effectiveness of that approach."

The long-term borrowing authority could be used to make loans repayable in up to 50 years, at low rates or no interest charge.

Kennedy asked for early passage of his proposal "in the earnest hope and expectation that the United States will meet its challenges and responsibilities in this decade of development in a forthright, affirmative manner which can engender the respect and cooperation of the community of free nations."

Cincy Jewish Group Opposes Private Aid

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Jewish Community Relations Committee has sent letters to Ohio senators and congressmen declaring its opposition to federal aid to private or parochial schools. The committee said "adherence to the principle of 'separation of church and state' is best for the synagogue and church, and best for the state."

7,000 Candidates To Take Peace Corps Exam

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some 7,000 candidates will puzzle over a 5½-hour written examination Saturday for the privilege of working long hours at low pay among living conditions often far below U.S. standards. These are the candidates for volunteer service overseas with America's Peace Corps. They will start taking the examination at 8:30 a.m. local time in 340 centers across the nation.

Although copies of the examination to be given are secret the Peace Corps officials have made available sample questions. These afford other Americans an opportunity to match wits with Peace Corps candidates if they desire.

The test is the initial step in screening out the human talent and skills which the United States will lend underdeveloped countries under a special program set up March 1 by President Kennedy.

The examination is basically of the multiple-choice variety. Seven sections are designed to determine aptitude in English, foreign language, U. S. history and institutions, farming health sciences and mechanical skills.

Two other sections seek personal information on the candidate—family and education background, as well as school team captain, army platoon sergeant, club presidencies, etc.

Examination copies have been closely guarded but Dr. Nicholas Hobbs, director of personnel selection for the Peace Corps, said these are typical questions:

"A related pair of words or phrases is followed by five lettered pairs of words or phrases. Select the lettered pair which best expresses a relationship similar to that expressed in the original pair."

"Torch: Liberty — (A) Tray: Waiter (B) Scales: Justice (C)

Candle: Poverty (D) Bars: Punishment (E) Lever: Power."

The desired answer is (B).

"Which of the following was the primary objective of the nations which signed the North Atlantic Pact? (A) To form an alliance for military conquest (B) To insure economic stability in Democratic states (C) To replace the Marshall Plan with a new alliance (D) To destroy the effectiveness of the Soviet veto in the United Nations (E) to unite for collective defense."

The desired answer is (E).

"After a seven year period of drought, an area had so much rain that floods were common. However, farms in these areas were still considered to be drought-stricken because (A) Farmers had not had time to plant and harvest any crops (B) The water table had not been raised significantly (C) The economic losses had not been made up (D) The floods had washed away the topsoil (E) The larger reservoirs had not yet been filled to capacity."

The desired answer is (B).

This general examination will be followed June 5 by a special test for candidates who would like to teach overseas at the high school level. Another general examination is planned for early July.

Benis Lutz New Principal At Ashville

Benis Lutz, South Bloomfield, was named principal of the Ashville-Harrison High School this week by the Teays Valley Board of Education.

Lutz, finishing his fifth year at Ashville, replaces C. E. Mahaffey who retired this year upon completion of 48 years of service in the Ashville district.

The new principal is a graduate of Walnut Twp. High School and Asbury College, Willmore Ky. He has taught at Ashville for five years and was named assistant principal two years ago when John Hardin left the school system.

He has a BA degree in education and has taught English and Spanish since his arrival in the Teays Valley Local School District.

The Light Side

Circleville citizens woke up to face a cool May morning today, but thank goodness it wasn't as cold as the minus 15 marked up on the large thermometer in front of the Third National Bank.

It seems the lighted temperature gauge developed a malfunction. Workmen were correcting the situation today.

Ohio Prisoner Wins Literature Prize

BALTIMORE (AP) — James Clayton, of the London Prison Farm, London, Ohio, won the first prize for literature Thursday night at the sixth annual meeting of the Robert Lindner Foundation.

The foundation is a memorial to a Baltimore psychoanalyst, who died in 1956. Each year it awards prizes in literature, art, music and science to prisoners of institutions throughout the United States.

Clayton's winning entry "Caliban"—a novelette—brought him a $50 award.

Clayton was first admitted to Ohio Penitentiary from Dayton on an auto theft charge April 20, 1946, but since has been restored several times as a parole violator, the last time on March 18, 1960.

New Congress

census each state is assigned its congressional seat.

During the '30 and '40s, Ohio was entitled to more U.S. House members than it had districts. But the legislature never got around to adopting a redistricting proposal. As a result, during both those decades, Ohio had congressmen at-large—two in the '30s and one in the '40s.

Unless the legislature redistricts the state to provide the 24th district to which Ohio is entitled because of the 1960 census results, the 24th Buckeye congressman will be elected at-large in November 1962.

There is believable report from a responsible source in the legislature that the Ohio delegation to the U.S. House has taken a private vote against any changes in the makeup of Ohio congressional districts. Republicans now control the Ohio delegation 16-7.

The last redistricting law in Ohio was in 1951. It created a 23rd District in Cuyahoga County. It was made to order for the election of Republican George H. Bender. Later, upon the death of Sen. Robert A. Taft, Bender went to the Senate for a brief period, but lost out later.

Objections to any changes now in the congressional districts are expected to flood the State Senate and possibly block any action. But, even if the Senate were to approve any House action to change the districts, the possibility of a veto by Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle still looms large. There is no possibility the Republican legislature could override a redistricting veto by DiSalle.

Replogle Firm Faces $4,000 Damages Suit

A lawsuit was filed today in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court against the C. F. Replogle Construction firm by an Ironton couple.

Lelia and Harlen Dearfield seek $4,000 as the result of damages to a four - room residence while the local construction firm was blasting for a new highway in Lawrence County.

The plaintiffs allege that their residence located near the job site of the construction firm was valued at $6,000 before the blastings. They said it was damaged by violent vibrations from November 1, 1959, through the middle of May, 1960. They state that the real estate is now valued at $2,000.

Alleged damages include cracks in the walls, ceilings and floors; dislocation of the chimney; holes in the roof which cause more cracks in the walls; and the shifting of the house on the foundation.

THE plaintiffs said the blasting operation was conducted in connection with the relocation of Route 52.

They are represented by the Ironton law firm of Carry and Moore.

April Summary Of Red Cross Activity Listed

The executive board of the Pickaway County Chapter of the Red Cross met this week with Mrs. Lewis Cook, vice chairman, presiding in the absence of George Hamrick, chairman.

Mrs. Roliff Wolford, chapter executive secretary, reported five cases were handled by the health and welfare committee of the Home Service in April.

Two Home Service grants of assistance totaling $125 were made last month. Eleven persons received counselling service from the Red Cross and four military inductees were assisted.

A review of the bloodmobile's last visit, April 27, showed that 75 per cent of the visit's goal was reached. E. G. Grigg noted that his blood recruitment committee is actively working to create more community interest in the blood donation program.

A SPECIAL training program for all blood donor recruiters has been scheduled at 8 p. m. June 7 in Circleville High School.

Don Collins, chairman of a committee investigating the purchase of a new vehicle for the chapter, reported that a white stationwagon had been obtained. It is to be delivered to local officials Monday.

In the final business of the evening, Mrs. Wolford reported that the response to the appeal for cookies for Veterans' Hospital day was successful.

The pastries were donated by 4-H groups and the Mt. Pleasant Grange.

Kindergarten Registration Here Reported Successful

A successful kindergarten registration in Circleville this week was reported today by George Hartman, superintendent of schools.

Hartman said 232 children were registered here Wednesday. An addition 11 retained from last year's registration pushes the total to 243 for the coming school term.

The local superintendent said the initial registration exceeds last year's total. More registrations are expected later, he added.

According to Hartman, the kindergarten program here this year had about a 97.5 per cent participation of eligible Circleville children. He said this figure probably will be upped for the coming period.

The recent registrations numbered 79 at Atwater School, 85 at Franklin St. and 68 at Walnut St.

Four teachers handle eight classes, with two of the teachers at Franklin St. The current registration means that each class will have more than 30 students and possibly require another session.

Hartman said students will be divided at the schools in order to better balance the number of pupils per class.

Stock Market's Big Job: Keeping Itself Honest

EDITOR'S NOTE — Many laws and regulations were adopted after the 1929 stock market crash to ensure honesty in Wall Street. This is the last of four articles on a federal investigation aimed at determining whether added safeguards are needed. Frank Cormier, Associated Press financial reporter in Washington and author of the series, explored that ground in a study of the stock manipulation case that set off the inquiry.

By FRANK CORMIER
WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's 13 stock exchanges have the primary responsibility for keeping themselves honest. Uncle Sam usually stays on the sidelines, keeping his shotgun in the closet.

Whether the closet door might be opened wide is a question now being debated in the light of the activities of Jerry and Gerald Re to members of the American Stock Exchange expelled May 4 by order of the Securities and Exchange Commission.

The SEC ruled that the Res, father and son, rigged market prices, sold huge blocks of stock illegally and otherwise flouted the rules of the game between 1954 and 1960.

In the wake of this, the agency announced last week it will make a separate investigation of the American Exchange, the second largest in the land. It wants to find out if the exchange is doing a proper police job, and if investors need added protection.

The exchange says it has adopted substantial reforms which will effectively prevent another case of the Re type, billed as the largest market manipulation since the depression.

SEC officials got a hint of wrongdoing in 1957 and obtained a federal injunction prohibiting the Res from making illegal stock sales. This stricture was ignored by the Res, who were market specialists for the exchange conducting daily trading in about 20 stocks.

The SEC collected further evidence of misdeeds by the Res in a 1958 case. Still, it did not take direct action against them.

It was the exchange which had first responsibility for keeping the Res in line. While the SEC has authority to make rules governing market specialists, the power has not been used. Rather, the agency has accepted assurances from the exchanges that they can do the job themselves.

This SEC policy will be reviewed in the course of the current inquiry.

Admittedly, it isn't always easy to track down stock market wrongdoing. The Res—who did not contest the SEC charges—seem to have proved this. Still, the record of the Re case has raised some questions about the American Exchange's regulatory mechanisms.

For instance:
For many years the Res ignored requirements that they file a number of different reports with the exchange.

The Res at one time had no brokerage license and notified the exchange that they did no business with the general public. Even so, they conducted an active public business during this period and even executed two transactions, late in 1954, for Edward T. McCormick, the president of the exchange.

Julius R. Van Raalte, board chairman of Thompson-Starrett Co. Inc., said he once wanted the exchange to drop Jerry Re as the specialist for the company's stock. He testified: "I inquired from friends of mine that were on the floor, and they said, 'lay off. That guy owns this joint.'"

Samuel Edelman, a real estate investor, testified he got advance word that Jerry Re was going to push up the price of Thompson-Starrett stock in January 1959 and decided to capitalize on the situation by unloading his shares. When his broker tried to sell at

1,500 U.S. Mayors Honor President

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy today received a scroll from nearly 1,500 mayors expressing their support to him "in guiding the destiny of our nation in this critical period of world turmoil."

Kennedy said he was particularly glad to receive the scroll at this time—"as I prepare to go to Europe next week" for conferences with French President Charles de Gaulle and Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

Kennedy said he was pleased with the "expression of national support."

The scroll was presented by Mayor Anthony J. Celebrezze of Cleveland along with three other co-chairmen of the Mayors-of-America-unity organization.

successively lower prices, however, he was told by Jerry Re that another order had priority. By lunchtime, the price had dropped from $2.75 a share to $2.12 and Edelman had managed to sell only 1,500 of 10,000 shares he offered.

The SEC brief in the case said it simply was a case of Re refusing to let an outsider take advantage of a rigged market.

One policy of the exchange allows a specialist to handle a company's stock if he can induce the company to list its shares for trading. The Res continually added to their stable of stocks in this fashion and developed close ties with corporation managements as a result. The SEC believes these ties were altogether too close in many cases.

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A policeman gave testimony Wednesday that helped send his stepson to prison for robbery. Patrolman Luther Montgomery testified in Allegheny County Criminal Court that he saw his stepson, William, and another boy in a drug store about the same time it was robbed of $50 last April 18. Montgomery drew 2 to 4 years. The other boy was acquitted for lack of evidence.

More Aid Due India

Chances are considered good that a new economic aid request for India, reported to total $1 billion over the next two years, will receive swift and favorable action by Congress. Too swift to permit the detailed evaluation called for by any appropriation request aggregating such a large sum of money.

Since the inception of the post-World War II economic aid program by the U. S., India has been given $3.8 billion. This averages more than $250 million a year. But it is now proposed that for the next two years this average be doubled.

Compared to India's rising economic solvency, the United States' international credit has declined over the last several years as a result of an imbalance in international payments. Since the early days of American aid to India, U. S. gold stockpiles have decreased nearly 50 per cent, the country's domestic debt has risen $30 billion and the dollar's purchasing power has declined in proportion.

India is a "neutral" country which sides with the Soviet in each crucial showdown. Instead of rewarding this conduct with increased financial subsidy, Washington should assist nations which have demonstrated loyalty to the cause of freedom at crucial moments.

A Joke Can Make You Rich

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—Somebody should play a joke on you and make you rich.

It can happen. A prank phone call by a coed two years ago has led to a million-dollar-plus career for four musical-minded members of the Phi Delta Gamma fraternity at the University of Seattle.

Now internationally famous in the younger folk-song set, "The Brothers Four" are a bit bedazzled by a quick success, but aren't swept off their feet by it. Right now, as perhaps the hottest and newest group of performers in the college entertainment circuit, they are eternally grateful to Alexander Graham Bell.

The four, all between the ages of 21 and 23 are Duk Foley, Mike Kirkland, John Paine, and Bob Flick.

In 1959, they were Seattle campus favorites when a phone call changed their lives. A joking coed called, said she was the secretary of a Seattle club, and invited them to show up for an audition.

They did. The kind-hearted club manager, who had never heard of them, listened to them and gave them their first break.

"We got dinner for ourselves and our dates, plus a lot of encouragement—mostly from our dates," said Mike.

The boys then got an engagement at the well known "hungry I" club in San Francisco at $50 a night for the group. That was their springboard to national attention.

Since then they have made four albums and a single recording that has sold a million platters. They have appeared on a dozen top television shows, traveled nearly half a million miles to perform at 300 colleges in all the states of the Union except Alaska and Hawaii.

They made from $2,500 a concert on up.

Resting now from their long strain, the four are vacationing, assembling new material, taking summer courses to gain college degrees, and planning an international tour.

The boys work together to write the words and music of old folk tunes in their own style.

Distribution of Ownership

By George Sokolsky

Looking through a General Motors report, I find that in 1960, this company had 595,151 employees and 830,873 shareholders. The capitalist system, as it has developed in the United States, is undoubtedly best described by these figures. The widespread ownership of American industry is characterized by widespread and diffuse public participation in ownership.

Similarly, the size of the personnel, over half a million in this one company, represents an annual payroll of $3,487,000,000 out of a total of $12,735,000,000. The dividends on common and preferred stock amounted to $577,000,000 and $381,000,000 of the net income was retained for use in the business.

In a word, American capitalism, as experienced by General Motors, our largest producing firm, shows a widespread distribution of ownership, actually larger than the number of employees; it shows that the workers get about 25 per cent of the total gross income; that wages are about six times as large as dividends. Ownership therefore is not an exploitive but rather of a co-operative character.

As one looks at the structural organization of this business, ownership is distant from management which is inevitable in an organization which has roughly 800,000 shareholders. That means that ownership tends to be functionally a banking process. The owners do not participate in any phase of the industry's activities except that once a year, at an annual meeting, a stockholder rises to ask a question and is answered.

While in practice the stockholders are called owners, actually their relationship to the business has become more in the nature of banking; the stockholder providing capital to management for the conduct of the business and having an increasingly smaller voice in either policy or practice.

As a matter of experience, ownership generally is not concerned much with the details of the operations of a business provided that a profit is earned or the enterprise shows the prospect of growth. If the owner finds it profitable or convenient he moves out of one enterprise into another. The business is in the hands of management which nowadays comes out of the work force of the organization.

In many respects, American capitalism functions differently from European capitalism, the American enterprise providing a smaller return on an investment, leaving large amounts of earnings within the business for expansion, development, acquisition and research. All the presidents of General Motors, since its organization in 1908, have come out of the work force, except Pierre S. Du Pont who represented new ownership. He came in when the company was in danger of bankruptcy and the Du Ponts made a heavy investment to save the company. He served for three years and was succeeded by Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., who came out of the sales force of the Hyatt Roller Bearings Company, a subsidiary.

This has been characteristic of American industry. Very few sons have succeeded to the positions of their progenitors. In the automobile business, the Fords are exceptional; in the steel business such succession is equally rare. In most enterprises, it does not happen at all. In family enterprises, it is expected that members of the founding family will succeed each other but that is not so in large corporate enterprises. The rise of men to authority out of the ranks, gives to corporate organization incentives which were unexpected in the early development of this type of enterprise.

It is the very bigness of modern business which provides opportunity for men to rise, because what is bought and paid for is experience, not a family tree or a propitious marriage. Experience, knowledge, competence is sought wherever it may exist and is given wide range when it is found.

In fact, in recent years, it has become so difficult to find satisfactory managerial ability that a system of stock options—meaning participation in ownership under specific conditions—has been developed to attract skillful management to an enterprise. Management seeks fringe benefits, as labor does, and usually gets such benefits as incentive pay.

From the standpoint of a man's future, a fringe benefit is preferable to a highly taxed salary. By this means, management participates in ownership, but by no process does ownership usually participate in management which has become strictly professional and trained. The need for skilled management therefore is urgent and calls for increasingly high returns. The stock option is management's method of obtaining an estate providing return for their work.

A televised version of "Macbeth" won five of those Emmy TV awards. No two ways about it, as a writer that fellow Shakespeare sure looks like a comer.

The secret of those Detroit baseball Tigers' success is really very simple, says Zadok Dumpkop—they just decided to live up to their name.

Some bamboo shoots, according to a nature item, grow 24 inches in 24 hours. Shucks!—we've plenty of weeds in the backyard that can beat that mark all hollow.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A MAN WAS FISHING peacefully one summer morning when he suddenly heard a woman's voice shrilling, "Help! Help! I'm drowning!" He dropped his pole, dove into the lake and swam to the spluttering girl, and grabbed her firmly by the leg.

Unfortunately, it was made of wood and came off. He reached for her again and clamped a hand around her jaw. This time he came up with a set of false teeth. On the third attempt he fastened his hands in her hair, but alas, she was wearing a wig.

"You fool!" she gasped.

"Do something... Get me ashore."

"My dear," he gasped, "I'm doing the—I can—but you—must give me—a little co-operation."

An insurance agent received this inquiry from a lady in Wichita: "If I take out one of your special policies on my husband's life, exactly what will I get if he dies?" The agent replied: "If he dies naturally, $10,000. If he dies accidentally, $20,000. If he dies intentionally, thirty years."

Inside You and Yours

By BURTON H. FERN, M.D.

Vacation is coming. Will you be ready for any emergency?

You'll need more than the usual items in most first aid kits. Iodine or Merthiolate and Band-Aids can handle the ordinary run of cuts and scrapes.

In the case of larger wounds, wash the surrounding skin with soap or a germ-killing detergent like phisocel. Dirt inside the cut can be rinsed away with sterilized water carried in an old baby bottle.

Cotton-tipped sticks help you paint Merthiolate on the skin without burning the open raw flesh. Cover with a three-inch gauze pad held in place by a one or two-inch roll of bandage.

Reinforce the bandage with adhesive tape. Scissors make the whole job easier.

Cold water is the best first aid for burns. Spread soothing burn ointment over the area before bandaging later.

Include aspirins—pure, buffered or the kind with ingredients that doctors prescribe. They'll help those nightly sore muscles as well as that morning-after head!

If Junior turns green on long rides, ask your doctor about car-sickness medicine. Travel is more fun without those messy paper bags.

Ice cubes (from your cooler) rubbing alcohol and baking soda paste can soothe those inevitable bee stings and mosquito bites.

Calamine, Caladryl or similar lotions take the sting out of poison ivy. You'll bless that flashlight when you have work in the dark—if you don't forget batteries.

Hay fever medicines and prescriptions keep handkerchiefs dry when some strange plant triggers your allergy. And don't forget special medicines that anyone in the family needs routinely.

Pack pencil and paper—to record treatment, dates, etc. And, most important, keep first aid supplies in the car trunk where Junior can't get at them. But be sure that you can!

A German observatory reports hearing feminine voices on wave lengths usually used by Russian earth satellites. Does this suggest that even in space travel the ladies may have the last word?

The Business World

NEW YORK (AP)—Industry in general and individual companies separatel are taking steps to reassure the public on two points that have shaken confidence in business ethics in recent months:

1. Conflict of interest, where a company official may be putting his own gain ahead of his company's.

2. Antitrust conspiracies, where executives of competing companies may get together to fix prices to the purchaser's loss.

General rules of ethics are being formulated—one by businessmen at the request of Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges, and others by business groups on their own. The Controllers Institute of America, for example, is issuing a list of helpful hints on how to keep out of conflict of interest trouble.

Corporations are restating or drawing up, policies against violations of conflict of interest or of antitrust laws, and impressing these upon their executives and other employees.

An example of conflict of interest is where an official is in position to buy from a supplying firm in which he holds stock, or which gives him a kickback for the favor.

At a number of annual meetings this spring, company chiefs have gone out of their way to reassure stockholders that their management that their company didn't get involved in furors like those that have caused trouble for some others.

Take the Jersey Standard Oil meeting in Boston Wednesday. There the president, M. J. Rathbone, took note of these matters "receiving wide attention from stockholders this year." He assured Jersey shareholders that:

1. "Every director, officer, senior officer, senior executive, and other key employ is required to sign a statement each year... that neither he, nor any dependent member of his family, has interest which would violate" the company's policy against any conflict of interest.

2. "A clear, written policy (against violation of antitrust laws)...and is followed up by repeated verbal instructions and discussions with responsible executive employees."

Toledo Firm Plans Cut in Operations

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Schultz Die Casting Co. will shut down part of its operation because some workers refused to accept a pay cut.

Some 65 skilled employees, members of Local 4, Mechanical Division of the International Society of America (MESA), unanimously rejected a company request for a pay cut of up to 72 cents an hour.

As a result, company President Ralph A. Emch said that the tool and die departments will be closed.

The company will continue to operate its production facilities where the 420-member United Auto Workers Local 1064 accepted a 65-cent hourly pay cut.

Skilled workers were averaging $3.50 an hour, compared to hourly wages of $2.85 for production employees.

The Controllers Institute of America takes the stand that the company controller or treasurer may be the logical executive to police such matters. So it has drawn up a report on how to cope with conflict of interest problems.

The report says the problem arises at two levels—the board of directors, and the operating staff.

Need I Say More?

DEAR READERS: In my morning mail were these two letters which I think are classic examples of "the grass is greener itch," or "the other-side-of-the-fenceitis." I offer them as a balm to the "discontented" career girl and the "unappreciated" housewife.

DEAR ABBY: How I wish I could get dressed up every morning in heels and a lovely tailored suit and go to an office to work from 9 until 5. I had just one year of that life before I got married, and now I am a housewife with four children. am only 26. What was my hurry? My work is never done. I finish one basket of ironing and another one is staring me in the face. I get no help from my husband as he works ten hours a day and has his own problems. A career woman doesn't know how lucky she is. At least when she gets her pay check she knows how much she's worth.

Here the Soviet Kosmos I, about that high, is compared with the Atlas, biggest so far of the U.S. The iron curtain report quotes Jozsef Sinka, Hungarian space expert. Next to be built by the U.S., set for 1964, is the Saturn, which will be nearly 100 feet shorter than the Kosmos I. The Soviet rocket which ferried Yuri Gagarin on his global orbit might be even bigger than the Venus rocket. (Central Press)

STUCK WITH THE KIDS

DEAR ABBY: I am a career girl, 33, and every night I go home to an empty apartment. Don't tell me to fill my life with church activities because I've tried that and I come away feeling cheap. A church is where you should go to pray, not to look for a man.

Everyone thinks the quiet, smiling girl in the front office is a happy person, but the tears that splatter her typewriter are as noiseless as the typewriter I would like to prepare a dinner on a kitchen stove with little ones underfoot, and have the front door open and have someone rush in, throw his hat, coat and tie on the chair, drop his cigar ashes on the rug and call out, "Hi, honey ... I'm home. What's for dinner?"

EXECUTIVE SECRETARY

DEAR ABBY: I have a big problem. My husband is the jealous type and the older he gets the worse he gets. We have married children and he is even jealous of our lovely son-in-law. He can imagine some of the worst things. I am ashamed to write them. He has no cause to do me like he does because I am a faithful woman living a good, clean life. I have to be so careful not to say any more than "hello" to a neighbor. I can't stand it any longer. All I do is cry and pray. Please help me.

ACCUSED

DEAR ABBY: Jealousy is a sickness of the mind. Anyone who continually makes accusations without reason needs to see a doctor.

EUB Schedules Call to Prayer

In as much as President Kennedy has called for prayer by the people of the nation to pray for those in high places and for the troubles that are facing the World — from 11 a. m. to noon on Decoration Day. The Shining Light Bible Class of the First E.U.B. Church, East Main St. are sponsoring the hour in the Sanctuary.

This will be open to anyone, who wish and are willing to spend a few minutes in prayer and consideration at the altar.

In these days of tension and the many troubles here and around the world, are you willing to fulfill the conditions of the wonderful promise — Found in 2nd Chronicles, Chapter 7, verse 14 as follows—

"If my people which are called by my name, shall humble themselves and pray and seek My Face, and turn from their wicked ways — then will I hear from Heaven — and will forgive their sin — and heal their land."

Are you willing to meet the challenge — My Brother or Sister — remember the Church will be open but the decision rests with you.

Nothing quite compares with the exhilaration of that final day at high school.

The drudgery of note-taking, the monotony of assignments and recitation, the tedium of term papers, the nights of cramming, the toiling tension of exam week . . . it's all behind them.

And ahead . . . graduation . . . the prom . . . college . . . a job.

But as an earnest parent, pause to take stock of your son's spiritual maturity. Has the soul's growth kept pace with the mind's?

The firmness of the bond between the Home and the Church holds the answer. Strengthen that bond every Sunday. In a world that constantly tests the faith of men . . . the last exam is not over.

The Virtue of Self-Discipline

THE CULTIVATION OF SELF-CONTROL AND SOME TRAGIC CONSEQUENCES WHEN THIS IS NEGLECTED

Scripture—Genesis 26:12-32; Proverbs 7:1-5; 14:29-30; 16:32; 17:27; 20:1; 23:19-21, 29-35.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
THE IMPORTANCE of this lesson on self-control is pointed out by the statistics showing the shocking increase in America lately of major crimes, juvenile delinquency, lawlessness, dope addiction and alcoholism.

A magnificent example of self-control is found in the experience of Isaac and his wells (Genesis 26:12-32). When the envy of the Philistines for Isaac's business success drove them to plug up his wells with dirt, making it impossible for his herds to survive here, he did not storm in anger as most men would have done. When Abimelech, king of the Philistines, asked him to move away, he did so quietly.

Four times his wells had to be re-dug before the situation was resolved. In the end, Isaac's self-control not only avoided warfare; it also brought Abimelech to him as a friend.

GOLDEN TEXT
"The fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, long-suffering, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, meekness, self-control"—Galatians 5:22, 23.

In his Proverbs (2) Solomon exhorts his son to "stay on the straight and narrow," as we would say, avoiding evil companions and seeking always understanding. Wilbur M. Smith makes the point (in "Peloubet's Select Notes") that it is not necessary to know evil in order to live righteously.

The "strange woman, even the stranger" refers, apparently, to either the literal or spiritual adulteress. "Her house inclineth unto death" (Proverbs 2:18)—the killing of the God-like spirit in man.

The phrase, "Keep My commandments and live" (Proverbs 7:2) can mean not only eternal life but the very vigorous, righteous, "alive" feeling one has when he knows he is doing his best to live by God's word.

Based on copyrighted outlines produced National Council of Churches of Christ

Other specific examples of self-control are listed. One should try to be slow to anger (Proverbs 16:32), to avoid envy (Proverbs 14:30), to restrain his tongue (Proverbs 17:27) and to be very cautious in the use of alcohol (Proverbs 20:1; 23:19-21, 29-35).

Six evil results of intoxication are enumerated in the Proverbs cited—deceitfulness, (20:1), poverty (23:19-21), quarreling (23:29-30), derangement (23:33-35), the other moral sins which so often accompany intoxication (23:31-33), and the fact that the use of alcohol so often leads to helpless addiction. ("They have beaten me, and I felt it not: When shall I awake? I will seek it yet again," (23:35))

In this day and age one more profoundly evil result of liquor has been added to Solomon's list—the carnage on our highways. The crime of murder is thus all too often the concomitant of drink.

Dr. Smith cites the striking decrease in all crimes in Kingsport, Tenn., after the outlawing of beer recently. In New Jersey, our heaviest-drinking state, "it indicated," according to Governor Meyner, "that an alcohol factor is present in from 30 to 50 per cent of (traffic) fatalities."

By keeping God's commandments, as Solomon tells his son, by applying our hearts to understanding, by "crying after knowledge," then shall we "understand the fear of the Lord, and find the knowledge of God." "When wisdom entereth into thine heart, and knowledge is pleasant unto thy soul, Discretion shall preserve thee, understanding shall keep thee." (Proverbs 2:1-11).

Onetime Cowboy Film Star Now Host for Restaurant

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Patrons sometimes do a double-take when they enter a Beverly Hills restaurant. The second take confirms that the host greeting them at the door bears one of Hollywood's notable names, Johnny Mack Brown.

For seven months, the onetime romantic actor and later cowboy star has been working as host-manager for the Tail O' The Cock. And he's enjoying himself. "It's hard work, but I like it," he says. "I figure it's much the same as acting—I'm dealing with people. I'm learning the restaurant business and get to see a lot of my old friends."

Johnny hasn't acted for a year; his last work was on the Perry Mason and Wells Fargo TV shows. He still has that soft, southern-tinged voice. He's not as trim as when he played for Alabama in the Rose Bowl, but that was 35 years ago.

"I'm getting plenty of exercise walking through corridors and checking the tables," said Johnny who is 56.

Johnny was one of the few real athletes to make the big time in movies. He caught two touchdown passes in the 1926 Rose Bowl game which Alabama won over Washington 20-19.

Contrary to popular legend, it wasn't the Rose Bowl game that brought him to films. Earlier, he became acquainted with veteran George Fawcett on a film location in Alabama. Fawcett urged the handsome young football player to try films.

When Alabama returned to the Rose Bowl in 1927, Johnny came as assistant coach. He looked up Fawcett, who showed him around the studios. A contract with MGM followed, and he made his first Western with a flapper named Joan Crawford. He also did films opposite Greta Garbo, Marion Davies and Norma Shearer, and co-starred with Mary Pickford in "Coquette," which won her an Academy award.

Of the $7.5 billion spent for tobacco products last year, nearly $3 billion was for direct excise taxes.

LOW PRICE IS ONLY HALF THE STORY

(The other—and even more satisfying—half you'll discover the first time you drive a Corvair!)

And when we say "low price," we mean more than merely the pint-sized figure on the window sticker of a new Corvair.

You're going to be saving like sixty on gas. And on the antifreeze you won't buy next winter, and the radiator repairs you'll never have to pay for. About the only things Corvair doesn't skimp on are room, smoothness, style and pure driving joy. But that's the other half of the story. Talk to your Chevrolet dealer about it soon!

Negro College Shuns Parade On Race Issue

WILBERFORCE, Ohio (AP) — Dr. Charles H. Wesley, president of Central State College which has a predominantly Negro student body, said Thursday the college will not participate in the Memorial Day parade in nearby Xenia because the parade is planned as a segregated event.

In the past, the Memorial Day observance in Xenia, Green County, has had two parades, one Negro unit sponsored by the All-Negro John Roan Post of the American Legion, and one by the all-white Foody Cornwell Post.

The ROTC unit of Central State has marched in the Negro parade in previous years. Central State has just under 2,000 students, about 15 per cent of whom are white.

Central State officials had offered to participate in the parade if it was placed on a desegregated basis, but college officials said that Oscar Fugate, chairman of the parade committee, had replied that "no, we've discussed it, and are not interested."

Lausche Declines Honor from ACA

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sens. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, and Thurston B. Morton, R-Ky., and six Republican Representatives have declined distinguished service awards from the Americans for Constitutional Action (ACA), the group reports.

The ACA describes itself as a nonpartisan, political action and educational organization to promote the election to Congress of candidates who believe in constitutional conservatism.

It announced Tuesday it had presented its awards to 136 congressmen whose voting records it approves. Wednesday it reported the refusals but gave no reason why they were turned down.

Lausche, one of only 12 Democrats offered the award, refused to comment.

Wholesale Hardware Firm Plans To Close

Cram, firm president cited poor net profits, continued growth of discount outlets and catalog trade as reasons for the shutdown.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy — while walking a cautious military path — acknowledged in his talk to Congress the need for a bold dash down around the world.

But he still has to show by performance how far and how fast he intends to go.

His caution on the military side shows up in instances such as these: When Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson returned from Southeast Asia he said, in Kennedy's name, he had promised the backward nations there this country would make "any sacrifices" in the fight against communism.

But he said there are no plans to send U.S. troops.

Kennedy could have sent troops into Laos to try to stop the Communist push there, but he didn't. If he had, the Red Chinese undoubtedly would have moved in, thus creating another Korea.

American-backed South Viet Nam is plagued by Communist guerrillas. The United States will help the Vietnamese with military supplies and training and with economic aid. But there has been no public promise American troops will be sent in.

In short: Although Kennedy talked Thursday of increasing and streamlining America's non-nuclear fighting forces, he mentioned no specific place where he intended using them.

His whole talk was anti-Communist. It was also non-belligerent, which is perhaps a requirement of his meeting with Premier Khrushchev in Vienna in June is to have any success.

But Kennedy sounded more active, imaginative and determined when he spoke of filling the needs of the masses in the backward countries in order to make communism unnecessary or unattractive.

There has been—so far as this writer knows—no concentrated effort, as a policy, to compel the leaders of the backward nations receiving American help to make sure the masses receive the benefits.

In a number of places receiving such help there has been corruption while the gap between the very rich and the very poor was intense and deep.

You might read into Kennedy's words that a continuing effort will be made in the future to see that the needs of the masses are filled. But he didn't say that in so many words.

He did express awareness of the need for such a policy by saying of the worldwide revolution by people seeking independence and a good life:

"They seek an end to injustice, tyranny and exploitation. They seek a beginning—a jungle road to bring a doctor when a child is ill—a schoolhouse to unlock the mysteries of knowledge—seed and fertilizer, jobs and food, a chance to live and be more than just alive. Those are the aims of their revolution."

Then the President did a remarkable thing when it is remembered the late Secretary of State John Foster Dulles sought to make the expense of foreign aid palatable to Americans by saying it was being given in "enlightened self-interest."

KEA AID TEXAS—Former President Eisenhower takes a hand in the U.S. Senate election campaign in Texas as he talks in Gettysburg, Pa., to John G. Towers, Republican candidate from Wichita Falls. Towers, who seeks the seat vacated by Vice President Johnson, got Eisenhower's endorsement.

Kennedy — at least verbally — cast out that philosophy by saying:

The revolutions of the backward peoples in search of a fuller life is one "which we would support regardless of the cold war, and regardless of which political or economic route they choose to freedom."

Since he considers communism the negation of freedom, it can be assumed he meant a country choosing communism would be excluded from his wide-ranging promise of help.

But he left the door open for American aid to a variety of social and political systems: democratic, socialistic, capitalistic, or even strong-man governments.

He added: "Too often we have let ourselves appear as friends of the status quo — and the status quo may be $50 a year."

But what is he going to do so that America will no longer be the friend of such a status quo?

For instance: Will he insist the rich in a Latin-American country getting U.S. aid must divest themselves of enormous land holdings so more of the poor people can own their own land? He didn't say.

This new program of Kennedy's — if he tries to make it a reality in the years ahead — will have to take many forms and need a lot of explaining. He didn't explain it in his talk to Congress.

Kentucky Chief Says Ratterman 'Drugged'

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Gov. Bert Combs said he believes George Ratterman was drugged and framed in his arrest following a Newport vice raid.

Ratterman and members of the Committee of 500 gave a first hand report of the situation in the northern Kentucky community to the governor in a closed meeting in a downtown Louisville hotel.

Afterwards, Combs said, "sure he was framed, I believe he was given knock-out drops."

Another Try Set To Loft Satellite

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —The National Aeronautics and Space Administration probably will make another attempt to launch a satellite to learn why the ionosphere affects communications. But it may take a year to prepare another payload.

An effort to launch a "radio brain" into orbit failed for the second time Wednesday when the second stage of the Juno II booster rocket did not ignite. A similar try failed on Feb. 24. J. Carl Seddon, payload manager, said many months of work were required to prepare the two satellites.

Assembly Off On Vacation

5-Day Holiday Taken
By Ohio Legislators

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Legislature wound up its 21st work week Thursday and headed into a five-day holiday, its longest of the session which began Jan. 2. Before shutting up shop, the House passed and sent to the Senate bills to:

Modernize Ohio's bank robbery laws to apply to holdups of drive-in teller booths and holdups involving persons who threaten to explode nitroglycerine to force bank managers to open vaults. Such holdups now come under the armed-robbery laws which carry a maximum penalty of 10 years in prison; the new penalty would range from 20 years to life in prison.

Make the penalty for attempted armed robbery the same as for armed robbery itself. Armed robbery carries a penalty of 10 to 25 years, but the attempted armed robbery law now provides only a 1-15-year prison sentence.

Create a state committee to stimulate the training of workers who lose jobs because of industrial mechanization.

Allow township trustees to use proceeds from sale of lots to expand cemeteries.

The Senate passed and sent to the House an emergency measure to allow the state to demand immediate payment of taxes levied on liquor permit holders and cigarette dealers whenever the collection of the amount would be jeopardized by delay.

The Senate completed legislative action on House-approved bills to: Exempt wreckers, ambulances and hearses from Utilities Commission regulation.

Modernize procedures in the offices of county court clerks.

Permit strip mine operators to post bank certificates of deposit as bond for reclamation of spoil banks.

Add the operation of educational programs for the retarded to the list of purposes for which a subdivision may ask special tax levies.

Private Road Rule Given by Attorney

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Roads, like human beings, achieve a certain status after 21 years, says Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy.

In an informal legal opinion to the Scioto County prosecutor, Everett Burton, McElroy said today that an undedicated road which comes into existence through public use for 21 years is considered to be a public road. But, McElroy added, only along the portion that has been in steady use.

In another opinion, to Prosecutor William H. Conner of Hardin County, the attorney general said county commissioners should act to protect a township road and county bridge which the Scioto River threatens to wash away.

The law says "may" act, McElroy said, but in view of the danger to the facilities "the board (of commissioners) would appear to have a mandatory duty to take action."

Yugoslav Baptists

Tip to all men drivers who like women*

*There's nothing a woman admires more than a man who acts like a man behind the wheel (especially if she's your wife and there are kids in the back seat).

It's childish to speed. It's boyish to want to catch up with that wise guy who raced past you. It's something less than manly to risk your neck (and hers) just to get there first.

Relax — a real man doesn't have to prove anything to anybody! Please take it easy over the holiday weekend. Drive carefully and get home happy — and safe.

Sidney Pacer Captures Feature at Lebanon

LEBANON, Ohio (AP)—Eugene Fogt celebrated his 32nd birthday Thursday night by driving Great Wil to victory in the featured C-1 pace at Lebanon Raceway.

Great Wil, owned by John Frantz of Sidney, did the mile in 2:08, lowering his old mark on a more or less muddy track. The 4-year-old bay gelding went right to the front and never relinquished his lead. Great Wil, who has won four of five starts this year, paid $5.60.

at stake and the Tigers are aware of it. So are the Falcons of Franklin Heights.

Both teams stand at 5-1, best marks in the loop. Franklin Heights hurdled past Pleasant View and Wilmington earlier this week. Circleville also fought its way into a top position by handling Wilmington its first league loss, 4-2.

COACH Dick Fisher's young charges will shoot the works Saturday in an effort to bring the baseball crown back to Circleville where it has been for most of the last 10 years.

The Tigers will go into the test at a disadvantage. Sidelined will be Freddie Moore and Leonard Eblin, both injured in the Wilmington game here Monday. Moore suffered a deep cut on the left knee following a collision in centerfield and Eblin received a fractured ankle sliding into home.

Gary Lagore probably will move to left field and Gary Stewart will get the nod in right.

Sam Weller, winner over Wilmington, will be Coach Fisher's choice on the mound. The remainder of the lineup probably will see Jack Cook, catching. Dick Kline at first, David Bass at second, Jim Wellington at short, Larry Callahan at third and Jim Tootle in center to round out the outfield.

Adios Butler Set For Initial Pace

WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP)—Adios Butler, the champion pacer whose list of records is even more impressive than his bankroll, meets the best at Roosevelt Raceway to-night in his first race of 1961.

The 5-year-old stallion, purchased for $600,000 by a syndicate last year, is starting his final year in racing with the $25,000 New Frontier Pace at one mile. After the 1961 season he will be retired to stud on a farm near New Holland, Ohio.

Adios Butler has been established as the 4-5 early line favorite in a field that includes False Step, the New Zealand horse who won a 1½ mile international event at Yonkers last week; Bye Bye Byrd, the top money earner in harness racing history; and Caduceus, former New Zealand horse now leased to American owners.

Frank Hannah, Dartmouth freshman skier, is the son of Sel Hannah of Franconia, N. H., former Big Green coach and Olympic skier.

3-Hit Pitching, Homer Deliver Win for Bums

Cleveland Cuts Detroit Lead with Win; Tigers Bow to Minnesota

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The three-hit pitching of Sandy Koufax and a seventh-inning home run by Tommy Davis gave the Los Angeles Dodgers a 1-0 victory over St. Louis Thursday night in the only National League game played. Cleveland trimmed Detroit's American League lead to 3½ games by beating the Los Angeles Angels 13-5 while Minnesota dropped the Tigers 7-6 in 11 innings.

Southpaw Whitey Ford won his sixth in a row as third place New York beat Boston 6-4, Baltimore rapped the Chicago White Sox 6-4 and Kansas City defeated Washington 4-3, for winless Dick Donovan's fifth one-run defeat, in the other AL games.

Only two other games were scheduled in the National-Pittsburgh at Chicago and Philadelphia at Milwaukee—and both were rained out.

Koufax, now 5-2, struck out eight, walked but three and allowed nothing but singles. Bob Gibson (2-1) was the loser.

The Yankees took a 5-0 lead in two innings against Billy Muffett as Johnny Blanchard and Tony Kubek belted two-run homers. Whitey Ford gave up only five hits, but needed relief help from Luis Arroyo.

The Orioles got all six runs in the first two innings off loser Herb Score (1-2) and relievers Juan Pizarro and Frank Bauman. Steve Barber (6-2) was the winner, but needed reliever Hoyt Wilhelm to nail it.

Johnny Romano, Woody Held, Willie Kirkland and Bubba Phillips rapped homers for the Indians, who had 17 hits against loser Ron Moeller (0-4) and five relievers. Mudcat Grant (4-0) won it with relief from Barry Latman.

A double by Lennie Green and a single by Jim Lemon won it for the Twins and beat Tiger reliever Jim Donohue (1-1). Detroit scored five in the first on homers by Al Kaline and Norm Cash and got the other run in the 10th on Billy Bruton's homer. Reliever Paul Giel won his first for the Twins.

Al Pilarcik's two-run single sewed it up for the A's in a three-run fifth off Donovan. Willie Tasby and Gene Green homered for the Senators' runs off Joe Nuxhall (2-1). Leo Posada of the A's was struck in the face by a Donovan pitch and was taken to a hospital for examination.

Ohio Weekend Fishing Due To Be 'Good'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Fishin' is good—and so is the catchin' that's the word from the Division of Wildlife in taking a look at the prospects for the coming weekend. The picture, by areas, follows:

NORTHWESTERN—All species are being taken in both lakes and streams which are reported in excellent condition. Both Lake St. Marys and Oxbow Lake have been producing good strings of bass, bluegills, crappies and catfish. Carp are being taken almost everywhere. Most streams are normal and smallmouth bass are being taken.

EAST CENTRAL AND SOUTH-EASTERN—Fair fishing is reported although good reports have come from Dow, Leesville, Seneca Clendenen, Tappan and Harrison Lakes. Several other good spots include Burr Oak, Clouse, Atwood Beach City and Forked Run. Streams vary from clear to roily although the Muskingum is reported in excellent condition and numerous fish are being taken there.

CENTRAL AND SOUTHERN — Virtually all waters are in fine fishing condition. Both Delaware and Hoover Reservoirs, Buckeye Lake and nearby streams including Big and Little Darby, Big and Little Walnut, are clear and normal, and producing good catches of all species. Rocky Fork, Jackson, and Madison lakes have been producing well.

SOUTHWESTERN — Following are a few of the better lake fishing spots in this district: Grant, Kiser, Clark, Stonelick, Spring Valley, Indian, Acton, and Loramie. Streams are in good fishing condition and all species being caught.

Since the first of the year, out-fitter Chuck Essegian has been on the rosters of four baseball clubs — Spokane, Los Angeles Dodgers, Baltimore and Kansas City.

6-1 Final Score

Broncs Top Triad To Win DVL Title

Ashville's high-flying Broncos added one more bit of luster to their star-studded abseball crown yesterday, turning back Triad, 6-1, to win undisputed possession of the Darby Valley League championship. The game was played on the Broncos home field.

Ashville, finishing the season with an impressive 15-1 slate, got its biggest boost from the pitching of Tom Rathburn who fanned 10 men in winning his seventh decision against one defeat.

Rathburn walked three men. Rudy Rutan, Triad's hurler, struck out eight Broncos and walked four. The Broncos opened scoring with a bang in the first innng, counting twice as Dick Hollenback singled, stole second and came home on Jim Gregg's long double down the right field line.

GREGG stole third base and tallied on a passed ball.

Triad came back for a single marker in the top of the second when Foster singled, went to second on a balk and cleared home plate on the only Ashville error of the game.

Rutan gave the Broncos all the incentive they needed to break the contest wide open when he walked the first three men he faced in the third stanza. Gary Bainter singled to drive in a pair of runs.

Sonny Roof belted a one-bagger and dived home safely when Triad's catcher threw wildly into center field.

This gave Ashville a 6-1 lead, one they never relinquished.

In final totals, the victors had six runs, four hits and one error. Triad counted one marker, five hits and booted three fielding plays.

Ashville also won the county tournament championship and was among the contenders in the Pick-away County League.

Coach Russ Gregg commented, "We all feel exceptionally proud of these boys. Each worked to his fullest capacity in every game we played."

Plenty of Auto Racing Due in Ohio This Weekend

By JOHN F. (Red) PHILLIPS
Sports Editor, Columbus Star
(For The Associated Press)

Everything on wheels will be racing in Ohio this long Memorial Day weekend.

Events start Friday and run through Saturday, Sunday, Monday evening and Tuesday afternoon and night.

Last week's rains allowed the drivers to rest up for the long haul.

Joy Fair of Pontiac, Mich., won the feature $2,000 purse event at Sandusky last Sunday, and he and all the regulars will be back Sunday night when the purse will be $3,000.

Chuck Yost Jr. won Friday night at Cleveland's Cloverleaf track, and Don Arnold of Mentor was the Sunday winner. They will go for repeats there this weekend. Norm Smith of Lakewood took the first event on the new Lorain County Speedway at Elyria last week and they go there again this Saturday night.

Wayne McGuire of Grayson, Ky., won the modified main at Dayton Sunday, and the flying stock winner was Chic Hale of New Madison. Both type cars will perform there Sunday. Up at El Dorado the modifieds and jalopies will go Sunday afternoon. Audy Swartz won there last week.

Columbus Motor Speedway runs twice this week, with both modifieds and flying stock Friday and Sunday nights. Sunday's purse will be $2,000. Powell Speedway offers a modified stock program Saturday night for a $1,500 purse.

The newly-done Midvale Speedway at Ulrichsville presents the modifieds Sunday and Tuesday night, and at Washington Court House. They go with modifieds Friday night and flying stocks Saturday. Dan Dyke and Bob Morgan won the sportsman and modified features at Atomic Speedway last Saturday, and will be back at the Alma plant this week.

Knox-Vernon at Mt. Vernon goes Sunday night. The Belmont track at St. Clairsville, its opener rained out, will try again Friday night.

Canfield Speedway will hold its annual Memorial Day 100-mile with the MARC new cars for 200 laps on the dirt half-mile. Saturday night the MARC new cars will race at Portsmouth Speedway for a $3,500 purse.

Portsmouth offers a Sunday tri-state title race for modifieds for $2,000. A championship affair is slated Friday over at Huntington for both modifieds and sportsman.

Ohioans will go over to Parkersburg, W. Va., for races Saturday, Sunday and Monday evenings at Ohio Valley Speedway. Bud Chad-dock of Parkersburg won the modified there last Sunday, and Jim Wright of Marietta took the sportsman.

A few Buckeyes were due in Pennsylvania for the PRA events at Heidelberg Thursday, South Park in the evening. Saturday night at Anderson, Ind., the MARC sprint cars will run in the Little 500.

Drag strips — Dragway 42 at West Salem will be the busiest, running Saturday, Monday and Wednesday nights and in the afternoon on Sunday and Memorial Day. There will be a "grudge" between Gordon Collet of Portsmouth and Joe Schubeck of Cleveland. They did 166 mph and 162 mph, respectively, there recently. They go Sunday.

Russ Wilson of Portsmouth topped the Raven Rock strip last Sunday at 126.28 mph, and they go Sunday and Tuesday there. Jerry Hunt made a flat 148 mph at Xenia's Kil-Kare strip last week, and will be back for Sunday's events.

At the Pacemakers Strip at Mt. Vernon the dragsters will run for $1,500 in bonds Sunday in the season championship. Hyde Park at Newark will run Saturday night, and Sunday and Memorial Day afternoons.

Coney Island Racial Equality Is Pondered

CINCINNATI (AP)—A rally to discuss future action at the Coney Island Amusement Park will be held tonight in Carmel Presbyterian Church, Avondale, by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and the Congress on Racial Equality.

The case of 27 whites and Negroes arrested since Sunday for allegedly creating disturbances at the amusement park were continued for a week Thursday night by Judge David Gorman of the Hamilton County Court in Madeira. The 27 were protesting Coney Island admission practices.

DiSalle Says BIS Needs Help On Overcrowded Conditions

COLUMBUS Ohio (AP) — Gov. Michael V. DiSalle says he has seen overcrowded conditions at Boys Industrial School near Lancaster but as for remedying the situation his hands are tied.

The governor toured the institution Thursday and said he plans to inspect all correctional and mental institutions in the state this year.

He said he will keep making such tours and keep the public informed of what he sees until the institutions are brought up to desired standards.

But he said he personally can't do anything about what he considers the bad situations that exist.

He said he pointed out the overcrowding at BIS in his budget message to the legislature. But the House he added then slashed funds for the institution to below what they are now.

He said 40 youths were released from BIS when he was there leaving 868 in an institution designed to accommodate 450.

And, DiSalle said, "They're not ready to be released. They're just making room for others coming in."

He said there's a complete turnover in BIS inmates every five or six months.

He told of seeing a 13-year-old Barberton truant placed with 16-year-olds convicted of breaking and entering and rape. The reason: Lack of adequate quarters.

"They come in the first time as a truant," DiSalle observed "and the next time for auto theft or armed robbery." He said they learn criminal ways through association with others.

The governor Thursday also asked four of his cabinet members to recommend ways of helping nine southern counties improve their natural resources and thus stimulate their economy.

He acted after viewing a report showing population losses ranging from six-tenths to 6½ per cent in Adams, Belmont, Harrison, Meigs and Vinton counties in the 1951-60 decade.

DiSalle ordered the four cabinet members—directors of the highways and industrial and economic development departments—to make personal inspection tours of the areas.

The governor also signed into law three acts by the legislature to:

Provide for creation of municipal districts and the levying of special assessments to finance planting maintenance and removal of shade trees along street; in the areas.

Allow county commissioners to vacate roads unused in townships for 21 years and transfer the right-of-way to abutting land owners upon petition.

Permit the Animal Industry Division of the Agriculture Department to regulate terminal livestock markets for better disease control.

Witness Says Eichmann Aids Slaying of Boy

JERUSALEM, Israel (AP) — A Hungarian Jew pressed into slave labor testified today that he saw Adolf Eichmann take part in the murder of a Jewish boy accused of stealing cherries from the Gestapo chief's garden.

The eyewitness account had the impact of a thunderclap on the packed courtroom where in the six weeks since the trial started Eichmann has been accused mainly of high-level direction of the Nazi slaughter of six million Jews.

Avraham Gordon, 35, now a guard at a copper processing plant in Israel, was a boy of 16 to 17 when he worked on tank traps and gun emplacements in the gardens of the villa Eichmann conscripted for his Budapest headquarters in 1944.

"It was the first murder I ever saw," Gordon said. "Later I saw many."

The witness said Eichmann and his bodyguard Slavek beat a Jewish boy of 16 or 17 named Shalomon to death for stealing cherries from the orchard nearby.

"We never believed he did steal any," Gordon said.

Cross-examined by defense counsel Robert Servatius Gordon refused to budge from his story.

Millions in Japan Remain Loyal to Shinto Mythology

TOKYO (AP)—Not so long ago, "Shinto" conjured up visions of millions of Japanese worshipping the emperor, then the symbol of the might of militarist Japan.

Today, Shinto is no longer an instrument of the state, but millions still accept it—a mixture of ancient ritual and belief that has survived the centuries.

Officials say there are six million households today that accept Japan's indigenous religion, and who contribute $560,000 a year to shrine coffers.

But Shinto is not a religion in the strict sense of the term.

Shinto means "the way of the gods". It has no organized teaching, no dogmas, no images or idols. Practically, it is the worship of anything mysterious, superior — anything that inspires awe. Such things are considered "kami," or deities.

Thus, the ancients worshipped important ancestors, a custom the militarists seized on to propagate the emperor's "divinity" and rally national unity.

There also are deities of food, wind, fertility, storms, good fortune, and so on.

At the apex of them all stands the goddess Amaterasu, the mythical ancestress of the Japanese nation whose spirit is enshrined at the grand shrine at Ise — the mecca of Shintoism.

Shinto mythology has it that Amaterasu (the heavenly shining goddess) was one of the many offspring of god zanagi and goddess zanami who created the world. Amaterasu ruled the realm of light, and Takehaya-Susanowo (valiant - swift-impetuous hero), another offspring, ruled the nether regions.

Few if any Japanese take this legend seriously any more, or the myth the militarists fostered that the emperor was a direct descendant of Amaterasu.

But the hold of tradition still is strong and hundreds of thousands of Japanese every year make the pilgrimage to see.

Ohio Student Says Whites Aid Riders

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Peter Ackerberg, the only white member of the second unit of "Freedom Riders" jailed here Wednesday, said many white persons in Montgomery, Ala., had aided the movement.

Ackerberg, a history junior at Antioch College in Yellow Springs, Ohio, said he went to Montgomery early in April under a divided work-study program at the college.

He said aid in Montgomery came from what he called the Montgomery chapter of the Alabama Council on Human Relations. He declined to mention any names.

The tall, slender Ackerberg said he decided to become a "Freedom Rider" after seeing a James Negro college student, beaten and clubbed outside the Montgomery bus station last Saturday.

Return to School Is Different Now

Everything is new — haircut, shoes, notebook and enthusiasm — when youngsters return to school these days.

The picture was darker a century ago. Compulsory education laws brought frightened children from factories and farms into a dismal room... where they learned only the 3 R's.

Around 1860, elementary science and nature study were introduced... pictures and drawings became so important that skill in sketching was sometimes required of teachers!

Fill unbaked tart shells with mincemeat and bake; serve warm topped with hard sauce.

Don't stack more than two cups and saucers together when you are putting them on a buffet table.

New Coward Musical

NEW YORK (AP) — A Noel Coward musical that has been ready for almost two years is slated for Broadway presentation in October.

"Sail Away", formerly known as "Later Than Spring", concerns a luxury cruise and weaves together three stories.

Coward is to function as director as well as author, composer and lyricist.

'Billy Liar' Coming

NEW YORK (AP) — A current London hit, "Billy Liar", is to arrive on Broadway next fall under the joint sponsorship of Lester Osterman and David Ross.

The Keith Waterhouse - Willis Hall drama concerns a lad of 18 with a wild imagination and incurable tongue.

Federal Law Guides Youth To Summertime Employment

The best tomorrows in life are for those who prepare and develop themselves today, according to the U. S. Department of Labor.

Young people of school age should bear this in mind when applying for vacation work. They should be selective in taking a job to make sure it will provide worthwhile experience and good supervision.

But most important of all, labor officials say, the job should be a safe one, performed under conditions of work that are not harmful to youngsters' health and welfare. Furthermore, it should not interfere with the contribution that they can make for themselves and the nation in the life ahead of them.

As a first step the young job seeker should make sure that his proposed employment meets the standards of Federal and State child - labor laws. The Federal Law - the Fair Labor Standards Act - applies to employment in interstate or foreign commerce or in the production of goods for such commerce. It sets a 16-year minimum age for general employment and an 18-year minimum age for employment in jobs which the Secretary of Labor has declared hazardous.

Children of 14 and 15 years of age are permitted to work only outside school hours for a limited number of hours in jobs permitted under the regulations of the Secretary of Labor.

Some of the jobs that have been declared hazardous by the Secretary of Labor include driver or driver's helper on a motor vehicle hoisting apparatus, and operating certain power - driven machines. Work in mines, in logging and sawmilling, and in demolition and shipbreaking operations has also been found too dangerous for young people under the age of 18.

Young people who wish to obtain further information about the Federal law should call at the nearest office of the Wage-Hour Division. Information on State child - labor standards can usually be obtained from the officials who issue employment and age certificates under State law. These certificates, which serve as proof of age, are usually available from local school authorities.

Last year Labor Department investigators found 5,429 minors illegally employed in non agricultural establishments. Of this total, 2,457, or 45 per cent, were under 16. The remainder were 16 or 17-years old and employed in violation of hazardous occupations orders. These figures point up the need for continued vigilance by the Labor Department.

Alaskan Likes To Fly

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP) — Air-minded Alaskans fly a great deal and figures might seem to show that every person here flew south to Seattle once last year, and returned.

Pan American World Airways reports its Boeing 707 intercontinental jets carried 24,990 passengers to and from Seattle the first year.

Population of the Fairbanks area is only about 12,000.

Actress To Produce

NEW YORK (AP) — Beverly Zarling, a young actress, plans to arrive in Broadway - as a producer.

Miss Zarling has set "Time is a Thief" by Tobi Louis to launch next fall her project of presenting original plays by new authors.

Congratulations!

The years have passed rapidly and it has been a pleasure to watch your advancement from your first school days. Keep up the good work and best wishes.

Walnut Grads To Hear BIS Official

The 39th graduating class of Walnut Twp. High School will hear the Rev. Charles L. Harrison, assistant superintendent of the Boys' Industrial School, Lancaster, deliver the class address during commencement exercises at 8 p. m.

REV. CHARLES HARRISON

today in the school auditorium. After graduation from Denison University, Rev. Harrison attended Oberlin College and the Theological Seminary of the University of Chicago.

While at the Chicago University, Rev. Harrison decided to work with delinquent youths. At the present time he is acting as resident Protestant Chaplain at BIS.

Rev. Harrison is nationally known as a public speaker. He is an active member of the YMCA, Kiwanis, American Legion and the Masonic Lodge and Alladin Temple.

Sports-Minded Churches

CLEVELAND (AP) — Churches of the greater Cleveland area are taking an increased interest in programs of athletics, clergymen say. One estimate is a 35 per cent increase in the number of church-sponsored basketball and softball teams in the last five years.

Other athletic programs in which churches are taking interest include bowling, bantam football, soccer and golf. In addition many church groups are inviting area sports personalities — including Cleveland Indians and Browns baseball and football players — to speak at meetings.

17 Kept by Angels

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Of the 28 players picked up at $75,000 apiece by the Los Angeles Angels in the American League expansion draft only 17 opened the campaign with the new club. Duke Maas, one of those caught in the expansion draft, was fortunate. He was returned to the Yankees in a deal for rookie shortstop Fritz Brickell.

Projects for Houseman

NEW YORK (AP) — John Houseman, who directs plays and produces movies, is now on intensive film phase.

"You have to take a big chunk of time and say 'within it, I'll make as many things as I can,'" he explains his operating method. The former artistic director of the American Shakespeare Festival now has six movie projects lined for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

"If three or four overlap during actual production, you don't walk away from any of them," he says. Scheduled first is "The Rise and Fall of the Third Reich," based on a recent best-seller.

Although it will tap extensively documentary film archives, Houseman intends to make it more than a lengthy newsreel.

"I've often urged argued in the past with the documentary people that they have settled for far less than what could be done," he admits. Now he will try to show them.

Celeste Holme, Director Frank Tashlin does a rave over T-T: "He is a magnificent clown. He can even take a prat fall with dignity."

The name Terry-Thomas needs to be explained. He was born Thomas Terry Hoar Stevens.

"When I started thinking of a stage name, I considered Thomas Terry, but discarded it for fear I would be presumed to be a member of the Terry family," he explained, referring to the English stage clan.

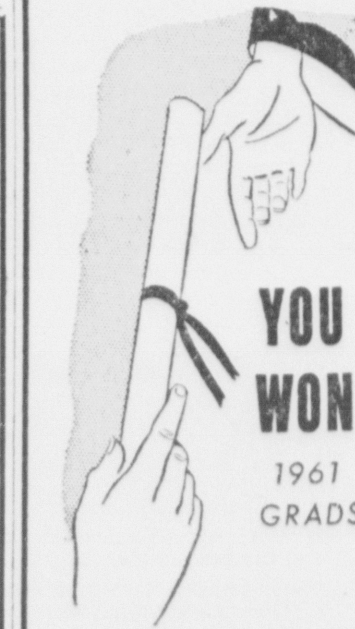

He adopted Terry-Thomas and shows mild annoyance when he is called Terry or Mr. Thomas. Friends refer to him as Tom or T-T, old friends as Mot, backward spelling of Tom.

Colored Currency Proposal Opposed

WASHINGTON (AP) — A proposal to change the color of all U.S. paper money except the $1 greenback is running into strong resistance from treasury oldtimers.

The suggestion that the department print each denomination in a different hue—to promote easier identification—has been advanced by Mrs. Elizabeth Rudel Smith, the new treasurer of the United States.

Mrs. Smith has submitted her plan to Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon, who could approve the change without action by Congress. There is no indication yet whether Dillon will give his okay.

Many career officials at the treasury are leery of the plan, fearing it might create confusion and weaken public confidence in the currency.

Easy Way To Golf

CHICAGO (AP) — The golf car has displaced the caddy at George S. May's Tan O'Shanter Country Club. Last year he went all out for gold cars and dropped 450 on call caddies.

May has 122 cars for his 450 active men golfers and some 200 women who golf occasionally.

NEW YORK (AP) — Tony Jackson tallied 1,603 points in his three varsity basketball seasons at St. John's University. As a sophomore he netted 521 points, made 531 as a junior and last season he tallied 551 markers. His single game high was 35 points against Rhode Island last season.

New Industry Possible

FETCHIKAN, Alaska (AP) — Tanner crab, hitherto not taken commercially in Alaskan waters because the big king crab are more desirable, are being studied as a possible new industry.

James Pinkerton, manager of Ketchikan Cold Storage, said laboratory work is under way on how best to extract the meat cheaply and package an attractive product.

The smaller tanner crabs are very numerous and some have been processed in Japan. Some experts say they are "delicious," but the high labor cost in preparing them is a barrier.

New West Play

NEW YORK (AP) — "Daughter of Silence", a story being prepared by Morris L. West as both a novel and a play, has been acquired for stage production by Richard Halliday.

A previous book by West, "The Devil's Advocate" was reworked into a current Broadway drama by Dore Schary.

Slotting the new project for fall production, Halliday has engaged Vincent J. Donehue as director. Donehue directed Halliday's wife, Mary Martin, in "The Sound of Music" and "Peter Pan".

Obscenity Issues Eyed By Tribunal

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Questions concerning obscenity took up much of the Ohio Supreme Court's time this week.

In one case, the high court reversed the conviction of a Cincinnati news dealer and declared the Queen City's obscene literature ordinance unconstitutional. In the other, the court agreed to review the conviction of a Dayton theater manager on a charge of showing an obscene motion picture.

The news dealer, Joseph L. Marshall, said he lacked knowledge that the publication seized at his wholesale news store in 1958 contained obscene matter.

The supreme court, in its 6-0 decision, said: "The ordinance which makes mere possession of obscene literature a misdemeanor without regard to whether the possessor had . . . guilty knowledge of such obscenity, imposes an unconstitutional restriction on the constitutionally protected rights of freedom of speech and of the press."

The action on the Dayton film case reversed the high court's refusal on May 3 to admit the appeal of Allen S. Warth, manager of the Art Theater in Dayton.

Warth was convicted in Dayton Municipal Court in 1959 after police viewed the showing of the imported film, "The Lovers." Warth said the U.S. Customs Bureau had held the film was not obscene.

He was fined $1,000 and sentenced to 30 days in the Dayton correctional farm. The sentence and $500 of the fine were suspended.

King's New Wife To Get No Title

AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—King Hussein of Jordan, a defiant descendant of the Prophet Mohammed, today married a 20-year-old English commoner who will be neither a queen nor a princess.

In a private, all-male Moslem ceremony at the hilltop Zahran Palace, the 25-year-old desert

Monarch signed a wedding pledge making Toni Averil Gardiner his second wife, with the title and Moslem name of "Sahibat al Soun wa al Isma Mona el Hussien." Her gracious ladyship Hussien's wish.

The bride is the daughter of British army Lt. Col. Walter P. Gardiner, an engineering adviser to the Jordanian army.

Open-Air Evangelism

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Fifty-two Ohio Methodist pastors met here for briefing on an unusual job they'll undertake this summer—preaching in the open at county fairs, state parks, in drive-ins, on street corners and courthouse steps.

"Preach to people where they are and how they are," Bishop Hazen G. Werner told them "Forget your conventional terms and talk straight to the people."

Highway Workman Crushed to Death

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—A state highway department employee died Thursday when he was crushed by a piece of heavy road building equipment.

Willie Bradford, 53, of 1605 Indiana Ave., Toledo, was leaning into the cab of the equipment—known as a payloader—which was loading stone. The highway patrol said Bradford accidentally tripped a lever which allowed the front end of the equipment to swing around, crushing Bradford against the cab.

Passport statistics indicate France is the country most popular with American tourists. Italy, West Germany, the U.K., England, Switzerland, Benelux countries and Austria follow in that order.

Memorial Day Toll Of 100 Expected

CHICAGO (AP) — The National Safety Council estimated as many as 100 persons might be killed in traffic over the Memorial Day holiday.

The estimate, which the council stressed was not a prediction of that many deaths, covers those occurring in the 30-hour period between 6 p.m. local time Monday and midnight Tuesday.

The last one-day Memorial Day holiday was in 1957 when the traffic death toll was 94. The 15 year high for a comparable Memorial Day holiday was 109 in 1956. The low was 81 in 1951.

Kingston Trio Explains Why They're Breaking Up Combine

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Why would three young fellows take the ax to a golden goose that has been bringing them a million dollars a year?

That's what folks have been asking since the announcement that the Kingston Trio is breaking up. The news came with a terse "conflict of interests" explanation, which didn't explain much.

The split is puzzling not only because the Kingstons are one of the greatest successors in recent show business, but also because they have always displayed the greatest of affability onstage.

The major issue appears to be this:

Dave Guard, crew-cut leader of the trio, wants to aim toward better music.

Handsone Bob Shane and stubby Nick Reynolds, plus the trio's bearded manager, Frank Werber, want to stick to the pop songs that made them famous.

Speaking from his Palo Alto home, Guard said: "Our problem is a matter of ambition—where we want to go and how we get there. I want to make good music. The other two aren't dedicated musicians. I feel very strongly about this; otherwise I wouldn't be turning away a huge guarantee."

Speaking for the other camp from his San Francisco office was manager Werber: "It's a matter of selection of material. Dave feels his whole interest is music, and he is very scholarly about it. The other two are more happy-go-lucky. They'd rather do the simple songs. When we started out, the organization was fairly democratic. But it has gotten to the point of Dave forcing his will, so to speak."

James Saphier, the Kingston's Hollywood mentor who first took them to Capitol Records, observed: "In every act, there has to be a take-charge guy. That has always been Dave. It is not unusual that the other two would develop a conflict with him."

"But they have a long cooling-off period and I think they might patch it up."
